

Bathhouse etiquette

Essentially there are four guidelines we'd like all committee members, volunteers and attendees are to follow...

1. Anti- oppressive space.

The bathhouse committee is committed to working within an anti- oppressive framework, and agrees that this space must be safe and inclusive.

As women and trans identified peoples we know what oppression is. For marginalized and racialized peoples it is essential this environment be safe & inclusive.

Should you have concerns or questions around keeping the space safe and inclusive especially with respect to racism and transphobia, please contact one of the volunteers at the door or a committee member who can be identified by a red armband.

It is important that all concerns around these issues are expressed as they occur so they can be addressed. Should there be just cause, a person who disrespects our anti- oppressive policy will be asked to leave.

2. Confidentiality.

What happens at the bathhouse stays at the bathhouse.

We encourage folks to share their experiences of this event, but we do ask you to respect the privacy of others, as you would like your privacy respected.

3. Consent

NO means no and yes means yes. A no from one person might be a yes for another.

This is a bathhouse; all attendees have a common interest in sex positive space.

Please communicate your intentions as each situation presents itself.

"Come to my room", might mean you're going to get laid or it could mean a heavy make out session. Know your boundaries and respect those of the other or others involved.

4. This space is created for women and trans people to explore our sexuality. Our volunteers are here to offer support in many ways, please use and respect their services. No tips will be accepted, offered or requested. Take this opportunity for yourself; we do this because you want it. Please Enjoy.
